

After the weatherman had seen the ominous clouds, he prognosticate rain.

By telling the truth, we stopped the incipient rumor from spreading.

I loathe spinach, but I love other green vegetables.

In a caustic article, the drama critic slaughtered the hapless actors.

Speaking in a monotone, the politician was booed for his lackluster address.

The bombing of Pearl Harbor was referred to as an infamous deed.

The cessation of the bombing in Iraq was urged by the United Nations.

The general attempted to repudiate the testimony of the lieutenant, claiming that the young officer was not an authority on low-level bombing.

The philosopher dealt with spiritual things, ignoring the mundane ones.

The play was so incongruous that it seemed to be the work of several authors.

The wealthy dupe consented to buy the often-sold Brooklyn Bridge.

The widow's tremulous hands revealed her nervousness.

The word 'expired' is a euphemism for 'died.'

Through an inadvertent error, the guided missile sped out of control.

Upon seeing the snake, the cat began to bristle with fear.

We repudiated the contract because it did not stipulate a cost of living bonus.

When Ed arrived late, he knew that the grocer would reprimand him.

When he attempted to jostle the old lady, she struck him with her umbrella.

When my neighbor's dog was run over, we sent a condolence card.

With the help of his brothers he was able to wrest the leadership of the company from his partner.